THE HOTEL SNOB'S Beth Flowers (@thehotelsnob) is a Birmingham, Alabama-based travel adviser offering her must-hit stays for the year ahead.

Notes of Sicilian lemon and Egyptian jasmine fuel positivity and grace—not that she needs it.

Tokyobike's lithe profile makes zipping down slim city alleyways a breeze.

CITY culturista

A tough act to follow, this de facto ambassador of global art and couture: She knows the streets of Florence and Madrid, Berlin and Budapest like the back of her hand, ducking in and out of museums, galleries, rare bookshops—and that elusive new bistro opening? She's had that on her radar for months.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS HOTEL ZOO BERLIN in Berlin. "An iconic building in hot and happening West Berlin, with all the velvet glamour of the past." hotelzoo.de

Ginseng tea with burdock and dandelion roots offers an ultraaromatic detox.

wellness OBSESSED

For her the ultimate unplug is actually unplugging, trading messaging apps for meditation gardens and twice-a-day yoga. A serenity seeker of the highest order, she can tell you the best spas from Sedona to the South Pacific and puts those with mind-centering natural beauty at the top of her rankings. What a soulful, savvy way to travel the globe.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS JOALI MALDIVES in Muravandhoo Island. "A combination of wellness and fascinating art that transcends even the beauty of the Maldives. There's nothing else like it." joali.com/joalimaldives

Crafted of ancient Roman glass, the de Vera bracelet links to age-old wisdom.

Well, if it isn't the Duchess of Fireside Reading and Cocktailing in the Conservatory: With a noble entourage in tow (Austen, Brontë, Tolstoy), she alights to the Cotswolds and Scottish Highlands, Avignon and Franschhoek to roam manors and mist-covered gardens. Come sundown, find her in chatty parlors snacking on biscuits and palace intrigue.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS LA RESIDENCE in Franschhoek, South Africa. "An intimate 20-room inn with a brilliant collection of antiques and art." theroyalportfolio.com/la-residence

ABOVE: Potager du Roy plates, €107 each; mariedaage.com. • Flora collar and lead, from $82; mungoandmaud.com. • Recycled wool blanket, $110; tartanblanketco.com. • 24 Karat Gold Firming moisturizer, $298; chantecaille.com. • Poppy sun hat, $250; sarahbraybermuda.com. • Atticus croquet set with stand, $599; frontgate.com. • The Butterfly House, $12,500; williamyeowardcrystal.com. • Minyas bed tray, $195; oka.com. • Jonathan Simkhai Jasmin top, $455; mytheresa.com

ALWAYS on the go

Fly and flop isn't her game. Proper getaways call for formidable tennis play in the summer and thrilling off-piste ski runs in the winter. Touching down in Aspen, Andermatt, or Niseko, top-flight gear is a must (Hermès skis? Put them on the plane, next to the motor sled.) as is a warm bath, ice-cold martini, and buzzing social scene at day's end.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS THE CHEDI in Andermatt, Switzerland. "An incredible contrast of nature and high design in one of the most gorgeous villages in the Alps." thechediandermatt.com

A self-cleaning water bottle? Genius (also noteworthy, its hyperinsular design for cold and hot).

GLOBAL shopper

Sensory overload is her favorite side hustle. Candy-colored cityscapes beckon, each sizzling facade a hint at the colorful craft studios and worldly goods within. Follow the wide canopy of her sun hat to the best tannery in Mexico City, brilliant basket artists in Rio, a linen whisperer in Cartagena. No rest for the weary though—at night she's dancing.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS CASA SAN AGUSTIN in Cartagena, Colombia. "An enclave of peace within the bustle of an energizing city." hotelcasasanagustin.com

Shuttle photos off your phone and into MH Studios' bespoke, hand-embroidered albums crafted in Brazil.

Rainy-day chess or jigsaw puzzling? Oomph's new Everything Table flips to accommodate both (and comes in 23 colors).

ISLAND jumper

Spend holidays on the mainland? It just isn't done. She has salt in her blood, a rarefied variety indigenous to archipelagos from the Bahamas to the BVI. Find her lounging on white-sand beaches and dining on oceanside terraces, nose-deep in Capote's Women. As for wading out in the flats, casting for bonefish? Why that's her favorite island idyll of all.

THE HOTEL SNOB RECOMMENDS BAHAMA HOUSE in Harbour Island. "With just 11 bedrooms and exquisite details, it feels like your own little place in paradise." elevenexperience.com/bahama-house-harbour-island
